Bachelor of Hospitality Management

Diep Gia Phuc Ho arrived from Vietnam with a passion for the hospitality industry and is now working at Auckland's five star Stamford Plaza thanks to his studies at AIS.

Due to his hard work, determination and support from AIS, he will complete his degree faster than normal.

"A bachelor's degree normally takes three years but I will finish it after two years and one trimester with the help of many academic staff," he says. "I have tried my best to take more courses to shorten my study so that I can join the hospitality industry as soon as possible."
